

SPECIAL REVIEW OF CINCINNATI BUSINESS

Concerns Held to be Friendly to the Cause of Organized Labor

UNION CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, OF CINCINNATI.

Jesse R. Clark, President; John D. Sage, Vice-President; Geo. L. Williams, Secretary; Louis Breiling, Treasurer, Fourth and Vine.

This is one of the very best regulated institutions in this city and Ohio's largest financial institution. Its business is conducted in an honest, upright manner, and the integrity of its management cannot be questioned.

Cincinnati are proud of the fact that the Union Central is the seventh largest insurance company in the country doing ordinary business exclusively, and the second largest company west of New York and Philadelphia. It does an extensive business in all States of the Union except two, thereby taking the name of Cincinnati into homes everywhere.

The Union Central is known for its low cost annual dividend policies. It invests its funds not in stocks or bonds, but in the finest securities the world affords—first mortgage loans on farm lands. A man who takes a Union Central policy is secured by assets of over $114,000,000, assets which do not fluctuate in value with the ups and downs of the stock market.

The Union Central is fifty years old this year.

John L. Shuff is the manager of the Home Office General Agency of the Union Central, and Charles J. Stern is General Agent for Cincinnati.

OTTO DAHMS.

This gentleman conducts a first-class bar and cafe on the corner of Ninth and John Streets, where it is at all times possible to get the very best of bar goods, or an exceptionally good meal, as everything that he serves is the best the market affords. Mr. Dahms is a courteous gentleman and makes it a part of his business to see that everyone who enters his place of business is treated in a polite, respectful manner. He is a known friend of labor.

JOHN REGENSBURGER.

The next time you are in the vicinity of 3001 West Sixth Street, and desire the very best of bar goods, or a light lunch, you will make no mistake in going to John Regensburger's, who conducts a bar and cafe at that number. He has always been a staunch friend and supporter of organized labor, and we take pleasure in recommending him to our readers.

ONE OF CINCINNATI'S LEADING CONCERNS HELD TO BE FRIENDLY TO UNIONISM.

Just back of the ball park, at the corner of York and McLean, is located one of the leading and best known concerns of Cincinnati, the Moore Oil Company, who are the manufacturers of "THAT GOOD OIL." In the heart of the city, The Moore Oil Company plant covers over 5 acres of ground, occupying nearly 500,000 square feet of floor space, two railroad switches, and has tank capacity of over four million gallons. They are manufacturers of oils, greases and lubricants for every purpose. Their products are the market's best, being made "right,"—from the finest and purest Pennsylvania Crude obtainable. The capacity of their grease department is seven million pounds per annum; their soap department three million pounds per annum. They employ 70 salesmen, besides over 200 other employees. Their delivery service is unsurpassable, comprising 12 tank wagons, 12 tank wagon trucks, 6 auto trucks, 8 delivery wagons, and 6 service filling stations. They also have distributing stations at Columbus, Ohio, and Logansport, Indiana.

Among the leading products of the Moore Oil Company is "AUTLUBO," an especially prepared and tested motor lubricant, which cannot be surpassed at any price. By using "AUTLUBO" in your motor, you get more miles per gallon of gasoline, more power, less friction, which means longer life to your motor, than with almost any other lubricating oil on the market. Every gallon of "AUTLUBO" is uniform, and is backed up by the HOUSE OF MOORE with over a third of a century of impeccable reputation. The Moore Oil Company are also manufacturers of "MOORESHINE" Metal Polish, which is without doubt the best polish on the market for use on brass, nickel, copper and all like metal work; Moore Gloss Body Polish, for all highly polished or varnished surfaces; Moore Oil Soap, in paste form, which dissolves quickly either in hot or cold, hard or soft water, and is especially suitable for removing grease, dirt and road oil stains. Moore's Transmission Grease is dark red in color, and is different in appearance from any other. It has an unusual body, feeding freely between the gears, and is as well recommended for differentials. Their "LION" Journal Lubricant is one of the best cup greases on the market, and is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction. The Moore Oil Company's "MOTOR CAR" gasoline is the best moderate priced gasoline made. Their "LION POWER" gasoline, slightly more per gallon, is well worth the price, in having lighter gravity, vaporizing readily, which makes starting easy. Altogether, this is the most satisfactory and economical grade, consequently the most popular.

As the management of the Moore Oil Company has at all times shown a friendly attitude toward the just cause of labor, it well becomes the hosts of labor to show their appreciation of this spirit by giving the Moore Oil Company their hearty support on all occasions.

MERCHANTS' OIL CO.

The manager of the Merchants' Oil Company, Mr. Henry J. Siemer, is one of the best known and most popular oil men in Cincinnati, having been connected with the oil refining business for a number of years. Before going in business for himself, Mr. Siemer was with the Cincinnati Oil Works Company, where he had charge of all of their employees. In this capacity, he gained the everlasting friendship of organized labor, by his fair and square treatment of his employees. Needless to say, this same attitude of fairness has continued in his capacity of manager of the Merchants' Oil Company. It is with pleasure that we lend Henry J. Siemer, and the Merchants' Oil Company, our endorsement and do it heartily.

The Merchants' Oil Company, located at 701 Reading Road, are among the foremost refiners of automobile oils and gasoline of the highest possible grade, and are the producers of lubricating oils and greases that cannot be surpassed for perfect service and satisfaction. They have a number of tank wagons, and give unparalleled service in deliveries. Their prices are as low as can be made consistent with good business principles.

FRED. PAGELS.

Among Cincinnati's many well regulated and conducted concerns that are known to be of sterling worth, none have a higher standing than does Fred Pagels. They are among the leading operators of fire-proof storage warehouses in our city, and in their line of business, stand second to none. The managers are courteous gentlemen, and make it a part of their business to see that everyone who comes in contact with this concern is always treated in a polite, respectful manner. They have won an enviable reputation for fair and square business methods. Fred Pagels have two fire-proof warehouses, located at 821-825 and 937-943 West Eighth Street, giving special attention to the packing and storing of furniture, pianos, silverware, and automobile storage. Their main office is located at 937 W. Eighth Street. Phones, West 47 and West 1055. They will cheerfully give you estimates on storage, or any job of moving, no matter how large or how small.

The managers of Fred Pagels have always been staunch friends of organized labor, and they have our hearty endorsement. If at any time it is possible for a union man to do anything to promote the interests of Fred Pagels, he should not hesitate to do so, for when in need of friends, you can surely rely upon them to support your just cause.

THOMAS CONNOLLY.

One of the fundamental principles of organized labor is to support those business men who are known to be friendly to unionism. Thomas Connolly, who conducts a first-class bar and cafe at the corner of Sixth and Main Streets, under the Galt House, is one of the most popular saloon men in our vicinity, having at all times been known as a staunch friend and supporter of the working man's just cause. The hosts of labor will do well to give Tom Connolly their liberal support and patronage at all times, for when in need of friends, you can surely rely upon him to support your cause.

H. WILLIAM MEIER.

The city of Cincinnati has a great many wholesale liquor dealers, most of whom are very friendly to the cause of labor, but none of whom are more so, or more deserving of the patronage of the working people than is H. William Meier. His place of business is located at 19 West Court Street. Mr. Meier handles only the best of high grade wines and liquors, and his prices are as low as the lowest, when quality and service are given the proper consideration. Mr. Meier stands high in the business world, and is known to be of sterling worth. We take pleasure in making favorable mention of a gentleman so deserving as he is, and do it unhesitatingly.

WESTERN PAPER GOODS CO.

This is one of the foremost business institutions of our city, having built up a business of which Cincinnati may well be proud. In their chosen line of business, they stand second to none. The honesty and integrity of the managers is above reproach. They are courteous gentlemen, and make it a part of their business to see that everyone who comes in contact with the Western Paper Goods Company is always treated in a polite, respectful manner. They are the patentees and manufacturers of Wax-Lined Weatherproof Bags, than which, there are none better. In the ranks of labor, the Western Paper Goods Company have many friends, as the management has at all times shown a friendly attitude toward the working man's cause. Union men should not overlook this fact, and at all times give the Western Paper Goods Co. their hearty support, because when in need of friends, you can surely rely upon them to support your cause. It is a pleasure to say a good word for a concern so deserving as this one.

THE HENRY GILDEHAUS CO.

The Henry Gildehaus Company, located at 1511 Vine Street, are among the foremost funeral directors and embalmers in our city, having built up a business of which Cincinnati may well be proud. There is no concern that stands higher in the esteem of the people of Cincinnati than does the Henry Gildehaus Company. This enviable reputation and position has been won by their never-failing fair dealing, which has been accorded alike to both employees and customers. The honesty and integrity of the managers is above reproach. They are courteous gentlemen, always treating others in a polite, respectful manner.

In their chosen line of business, the Henry Gildehaus Co. stand second to none. Their equipment is the best in the city, and their service can be relied upon at all times. Their prices and charges are always right.

The managers of the Henry Gildehaus Company have always been staunch friends of union men, and organized labor will find them friendly at all times. In time of bereavement, union men should not overlook these facts, and give the Henry Gildehaus Company their support, for when in need of friends, you can surely rely upon them to support your just cause.

OBJECT TO STATE INSURANCE.

Boston, Mass.—The recommendation of a joint legislative committee to put all workmen's compensation business in the hands of a State-controlled company was opposed at a public hearing by 300 manufacturers and friends of private insurance companies. The protestors sang the same song—that State-controlled workmen's compensation "would rob employers" of a rightful privilege of doing business with whom they pleased.

The question of prompt compensation to injured employees was given scant consideration.
